- Operating for more than 65 years with a focus on community engagement, Kramer has built a loyal customer base across many farming communities and has demonstrated a strong track record of growth
- Kramer conducts auctions on an unreserved basis, similar to Ritchie Bros. Auctioneers

VANCOUVER, November 15, 2016 – Ritchie Bros., the world's largest industrial auctioneer and a leading equipment distributor (NYSE & TSX: RBA) is pleased to announce that it has acquired Kramer Auctions, a leading Canadian agricultural auction company with exceptionally strong customer relationships in central Canada. This acquisition is expected to significantly strengthen Ritchie Bros.' penetration of Canada's agricultural sector and add key talent to our Canadian Ag sales and operations team.

"We are delighted to welcome the Kramer team to the Ritchie Bros. family. For more than six decades Kramer Auctions has developed strong, trusted farming relationships and deep community roots across the Canadian prairies, which has positioned the business as a leading agricultural auctioneer in Western Canada. Their family values, intense customer focus and innovative approach to delivering exceptional on-the-farm auctions are shared by the Ritchie Bros. team," said Ravi Saligram, CEO of Ritchie Bros. "We are truly excited about the value we can create by combining our expertise and global reach for customers in farming communities across Canada."

Operating for more than 65 years, Kramer Auctions has established a leading market position in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba as a premier agricultural auctioneer, offering both on-the-farm and on site live auctions for customers selling equipment, livestock and real-estate in the agricultural sector. The family-owned and operated business has developed deep, loyal customer relationships, which have been developed over three generations of management by the Kramer family. The business operates approximately 75 on-the-farm auctions, four on site auctions, and eight livestock (Bison) auctions each year, and sold more than CA$60 million of agricultural equipment, real-estate and other assets in the last year¹. Like Ritchie Bros. Auctioneer auctions, Kramer Auction sales are conducted on an unreserved basis.

The four key leaders of Kramer Auctions – Neil Kramer, Kim Kramer, Brendan Kramer and Michael Higgs, have all joined Ritchie Bros. and will continue overseeing auctions in the Prairie provinces under the Kramer Auctions brand. All full-time employees of Kramer Auctions have also been offered continued employment with Kramer Auctions, through Ritchie Bros.

"My wife Monica and I, our family, and the Somerville family are all very excited to be joining the Ritchie Bros. team," said Neil Kramer, President of Kramer Auctions. "We've respected the growth and interest Ritchie Bros. has developed in the agricultural space over the last 15 years, and believe we can offer our customers even greater value by blending our expertise of seamless farm auctions, with Ritchie Bros.' leading technology and reach of international bidders. I look forward to continuing our work, on behalf of all our valued customers, across Canadian farming communities."

Given the deep customer relationships and significant brand equity associated with the Kramer Auctions name, Ritchie Bros. intends to retain the Kramer brand for the immediate future. Kramer Auctions has one permanent auction site, which Ritchie Bros. intends to lease from the Kramer family for the foreseeable future, located in North Battleford, Saskatchewan.

The acquisition of Kramer Auctions, including both the agricultural and real-estate auction service, closed on November 15, 2016. Kramer Trailer Sales was not acquired by Ritchie Bros. and remains owned by the Kramer family. All other terms of the transaction are confidential.

Kramer Auctions Joins Ritchie Bros. Auctioneers

Our decision to join Ritchie Bros. Auctioneers was not a decision we made lightly. After much consideration, the principle reason was based on what is best for our family and the continued success of the business. The auction business has been, and continues to be, a large part of the Kramer family. Over the years the auction business has grown significantly and technology is rapidly changing it from live onsite to online Internet auctions.

In recent years, we conducted auctions across three provinces, and although a rewarding experience, we spent many days away from our families and the community we love. Joining with Ritchie Bros. Auctioneers allows us to get back to building stronger connections closer to home.

We want to thank all of our customers for their strong support and loyalty, both to our family and to our business. You helped us build Kramer Auctions to where it is today and we look forward to your continued support.

We are confident that by combining the experience and expertise of both companies, we will provide buyers and sellers the highest level of service and technology in today's auction market. Rest assured, our auctions will continue to be conducted with honesty & integrity. You can look forward to seeing the same familiar faces offering the same great service you have come to expect and have grown to trust.
